Dressmaking done in all its branches by the well-known Dressmaker, Mrs. Kenner.

The American League masquerade was a big success. It was successful in every way,—it made money, the dancers enjoyed themselves to the utmost, and the spectators were amused and delighted with the bright scene. All in all, it was an unqualified success.

The grand march began at 8:30. It was led by Miss Jennie Murray, who represented the Volcano, and Rufus Willard, who appeared as a clown. Miss Murray's costume was quite realistic, and, to make it more so, she continued in some way to emit smoke through her mask. Had she been a man, the natural supposition would have been that she was smoking cigarettes. As it was, the source was unknown.

The grand march was very pretty. There were costumes grotesque and beautiful, all colors of the rainbow, and it seemed as though a few colors which were not in the rainbow, were thrown in. There were gentlemen and ladies of the old school, and gentlemen and ladies of the new school, there were clowns and philosophers, dukes and toughs, people who represented hard times and good times; there were convicts and policemen, and there was every other conceivable costume.

After the march was over, the regular dancing programme commenced. As no one knew anyone else (or at least, no one was supposed to know anyone else), considerable confusion resulted. But every one made allowances, as all were in for a good time. Japanese coolies danced with Chinese noblemen—in spite of recent troubles in Corea, policemen tripped the light fantastic with convicts, fairies danced with devils, and the "two little maids in blue" with men in green and pink tights. The hall was beautifully decorated. Geo. Stratemeyer and the decoration committee worked hard for some days, and the result was that the drill shed never presented a more brilliant appearance. Across the upper end was stretched the big League flag. On the sides were the flags of all nations. Over the door of Company B was a big painting, recently done, of President Dole, with the American eagle fluttering over him. The ceiling was stung with lanterns, which, added to the lustre of the electricity, cast a beautiful light over the scene. The music was furnished by a portion of the band, led by Prof. Berger.

The members of the committee appointed to award the prizes had a hard time. There were so many unique and pretty costumes that it made their duty a difficult one, and even when they had finished, they were not all agreed as to whom were the most deserving. Those finally decided on were as follows:

First Prize—Silk Dress, by J. J. Egan. For most original female costume. Won by Miss Ella Banning.

Second Prize—Etching Gold Frame, by the Pacific Hardware Company. For best female character costume. Won by a young lady in the costume of an Hawaiian girl.

Third Prize—Fancy Hanging Lamp, by Hawaiian Hardware Company. For handsomest costume. Won by Mrs. Frances Nicoll.

Fourth Prize—Student Lamp, by Castle & Cooke. For best gentleman dancer. Won by Rufus Willard.

Fifth Prize—Silver Vase, by E. O. Hall. For best lady dancer. Won by Miss A. B. Grenwald.

Sixth Prize—Gold Charm, by E. A. Jacobson. For most original male costume. Won by W. B. Ash.

Seventh Prize—Gold Scarf Pin, by H. F. Wichman. For best male character costume. Won by A. W. Keech.

Eighth Prize—Pair of Slippers, by Manufacturing Shoe Company. For second best female character costume. Won by Miss Mary Dancer.

Ninth Prize—Hat, by Tracy. For best hard times costume for gentlemen. Won by a man representing Hard Times.

Tenth Prize—Photo Album, by Hawaiian News Company. For best hard times costume for lady. Won by Frank Rowland, in female costume.

Eleventh Prize—3 Shirts, by Mellis. For second best male character costume. Won by H. Klemme.

Twelfth Prize—Bottle Perfume, by Benson, Smith & Co. For second best lady dancer. Won by Mrs. James Welch.

Thirteenth Prize—By J. J. Williams. 1 dozen Paris Panels for the best assumed female costume. Photo to be taken in costume. Won by Mr. Ramsey.

The committees in charge of the dance were very energetic, and did their work thoroughly and well. They were as follows:

THE INSIGNIA OF THE LEAGUE.

Committee of Arrangements—Joseph L. Carter, chairman; L. M. Johnson, J. E. Efinger, H. Zerbe, Ed. Towse.

Reception Committee—F. B. Me-Stocker, chairman; E. O. White, E. A. Jacobson, Wm. Eaton, Professor Lyons, J. J. Egan.

Decoration Committee—Geo. Stratemeyer.

Judges—J. H. Fisher, John Kidwell, Chas. Hawley, L. C. Ables, J. S. Martin, J. K. Wilder.

Floor Committee—J. W. Pratt, T. P. Severin, J. Walter Jones, Thomas Wall.

Floor Manager—L. T. Kenake.

NOTES OF THE DANCE.

When the American League takes hold of a thing it is usually a success, and the masquerade was no exception to the rule.

There were several "unknowns," who refused to unmask, but went home before that interesting ceremony.

A group of four naval officers, as the four
